PURPOSE OF LEGISLATION

The purpose of H.R. 4679 is to designate the Federal building located at 1200 New Jersey Avenue Southeast in Washington, D.C., as the “Norman Yoshio Mineta Federal Building”.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

H.R. 4679 names the Department of Transportation (DOT) headquarters building in Washington, D.C., after former Congressman and Secretary of Transportation Norman Mineta.

Secretary Mineta has a long record of service to the nation. For almost 30 years, Secretary Mineta represented San Jose, California—first on the City Council, then as Mayor, and then from 1975 to 1995 as a Member of Congress.

He served on the Committee on Transportation and Public Works throughout his entire time in Congress. He chaired the Subcommittee on Aviation and the Subcommittee on Surface Transportation, and he chaired the full committee during the 103rd Congress.

He was a primary author of the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991 which, as President George H. W. Bush said during the signing ceremony, was “the most important transportation bill since President Eisenhower started the Interstate System 35 years ago. “This bill,” said President Bush, “also means investment in America’s economic future, for an efficient transportation system is essential for a productive and efficient economy. The future of American transportation begins today.”¹

Secretary Mineta also served as President Bill Clinton’s Secretary of Commerce, and President George W. Bush’s Secretary of Transportation, where he was the longest-serving Secretary of Transportation in U.S. history.

Following the terrorist acts of September 11, 2001, Secretary Mineta guided the creation of the Transportation Security Administration—an agency with more than 65,000 employees—the largest mobilization of a new federal agency since World War II.

During World War II, he, along with his family, suffered the grave injustice of being forcibly relocated and interned. Despite this, he spent his career serving the nation.
